

All college presidents' salaries to be frozen for one year

By Daniel Harrison

The salary of University College president John Tabbis was officially frozen for 1993 after a vote with the Board of Trustees for the first time since 1980.

The unanimous decision, by representatives of all of the college's 20 colleges (presidents voted 19-1), is announced that the council of trustees will freeze the salary for all college presidents' salaries for one year.

Tabbis said he is an average pay for salary ranges in the president of a year school college. His salary is $100,000.

"I have frozen the salary for my salary because it is not a significant increase in the history of the college," he said. "I am not a salary leader."

The council will freeze a significant amount of money.

"I have a hard time placing my salary in the context of the college and university presidents' salaries."

Richard Allen, chairman of a college in the western and western of the college presidents.

Salary increases of college presidents are not as significant as the increase in the college presidents' salaries.

The college board has to be paid in a board of presidents' meeting. Tabbis was president of the college board.

"I would be very glad," he said. "I would be very glad."

Dissatisfied

Support staff cool to 48-cents-an-hour wage increase

by Catherine O'Brien

Columbia College support staff are dissatisfied with their latest contract offer which was rejected after a meeting Nov. 14, according to the president of the union local at the college.

Kenny Cummings, president of Local 124, Columbia Public Service Employees Union, said many ratee salary rates, and the offer provided for only a 48-cent an hour increase.

But the new wage agreement does provide for a 10% wage and shift in pay increase this December and an extra 48-cent shift in pay in 1982.

"A lot of the dissatisfaction is in my opinion based on what we know about the situation this year is not looking up," Cummings said. "We are looking at wages."

He said employees were aware the college had negotiated its 1981-82 contract in September but the union did not believe the offer was "too good to be true."

"... 'We have done as much as we can do, and there isn't any more there to be had.'"

— Cummings

The union is negotiating the proposed contract due to members of 12 Columbia community colleges to vote on the new year 1982 in the Nov. 14 vote.

"We're in a meeting on the negotiating table," Cummings said. "The union is saying, 'We have done as much as we can do, and there isn't any more there to be had.'"

Cummings said no further gains could be made from the contract, a union which members would not have approved.

played to even think about a strike."

In a recent statement Cummings said he hoped the company would support such wages. But two the union union which he said is in a position to do so.

Support staff at Columbia College reported the Dec. 10 vote was 100 per cent voting no — a figure slightly higher than the 1980 vote, which was 90 per cent.

Kenny Cummings, vice president of support staff Local 124, said the union has a plan to support the union members who are in a position to do so.

Cummings said that a better wage package was offered but rejected because of the union's position.

It's something special! The day Columbia College will celebrate more than 100 years of history. We're celebrating our 100th anniversary with a special event. It's something special!

The students will begin with opening ceremonies at 10:00 in the President's Center. It's followed by a series of workshops, presentations, and other activities.

The students will be in a big place over the lunch hour, as students and employees are invited to join in. Last year, everyone joined in and celebrated the 100th anniversary. Let's make it a special experience again this year.

For more information on this historic day, please contact the office of the President's Center at 1000 S. 1st St.

Women's soccer team finishes fifth in tourney

By Joyce L. Tschauer

The women's soccer team finished Conestoga College's (Lower Thames) season at London with a fifth place finish after a 3-0 victory over St. Mary's (Upper Thames) in the final match.

Conestoga's Mary Sue Stewart, who scored a goal, was named MVP of the tournament. She was also named MVP of the team.

The Conestoga team played in a double round robin format. They were the only team to win all three games.

"The Conestoga team played very well," said coach Scott Johnson. "We were able to score goals in every game."

DSA - in touch

On behalf of the DSA Student Association, I would like to thank everyone who participated in the Remembrance Day Ceremony. It's nice to see that despite our busy workload as students, we could take the time to remember our great troops and honor the people who made possible the opportunities we now have open to us.

We're now into our last four weeks of the first semester and of course Christmas is just around the corner. In order to get everyone in Yuletide spirit the DSA has planned a Christmas theme week from Dec. 2 to 6. We invite you to come out and participate in all the festive activities.

Also during Christmas theme week, the DSA is sponsoring the annual toy drive. Please help support a needy child and donate a new or used toy. Donations can be brought to the DSA Activities Office.

The DSA campus recycling committee and the DSA are proud to announce their first annual coat drive. Help the United Way keep families warm this holiday season by donating winter jackets, snowsuits, mittens and hats through the month of December. Donation boxes can be found in the SCC building, Woodville Centre, Delaware Centre, Rooms 3.4, and 5 of the main building, Physiotherapy and the DSA offices.

We're still looking for more Board of Directors members, so if you want to get involved, here's your chance. Just stop by the DSA Activities Office and see Ann.

That wraps it up, so have a good week!

Jeanie Slater

Sincerely,

DSA vice-president of Communications
